Application for Junior Java Developer (m/f/d) – Frankfurt am Main

Dear Hiring Team,

I am excited to apply for the position of Junior Java Developer at your company in Frankfurt. As a Master's student in Global Software Development at Fulda University of Applied Sciences, I bring practical experience in Java development, Spring Boot, relational databases, and Docker, combined with a strong interest in FinTech solutions and agile teamwork.

In my academic and project work, I have developed full-stack applications where the Java/Spring Boot backend and PostgreSQL/MySQL databases were central components. For example, I built a student housing platform with role-based access and database integrity, deployed on AWS with Docker and CI/CD pipelines. In another project, I designed REST APIs and backend logic for a task management system, ensuring reliable CRUD operations and secure authentication. These experiences deepened my expertise in Java, backend services, and database design while sharpening my ability to work in agile teams.

Additionally, I have experience as a Machine Learning Teaching Assistant, where I guided Master's students in debugging and optimizing code. This role strengthened my communication skills, structured way of working, and ability to support others in solving complex problems, qualities that I believe are important in collaborative software development.

What excites me most about this role is the opportunity to contribute to the development of a new platform for current account and banking product management, working with modern technologies in a dynamic FinTech environment. I am particularly motivated to deepen my expertise in Spring Boot, Angular, and interface integration while actively contributing to the success of your team.

Thank you for considering my application. I would be delighted to bring my technical skills, structured approach, and motivation to your company, and to grow as part of your Junior Java Development team in Frankfurt.

Yours sincerely,
Masood Ahmed Mohiuddin
